

The rule of law

Children are taught about rules and the importance of following them in different games. Children are shown how to conduct themselves in winning/losing situations and taught good sportsmanship. Children are encouraged to set good examples particularly when representing the school at competitions or events.

Parkland Primary School

Learning together

Mutual respect and tolerance

Pupils are taught how to respect staff, each other and equipment. At competitions and events pupils are expected to conduct themselves in the correct manner. All children have the opportunity to attend extracurricular sport and access wider community links. Children are taught that we are all different in many ways.

Democracy

Through PE and sport children at Parkland experience a variety of roles and responsibilities. All children have equal opportunities through PE and school sport. Children enjoy working together in teams and are taught the social skills needed to do so.

Individual liberty

Children are encouraged to share their ideas and opinions and listen when others do the same. Children are taught how to feedback regarding others performance in a positive manner and with respect. We discuss health and safety regularly so that pupils feel safe to perform.
